THE STANDARDIZED CAR.

This new Cole Ten-Four throws a new light on your own purchasing power. It clarifies the air. It shows you what you can actually but with your money. It sets an inflexible standard of quality and price. It draws for you a new value line up to which any one who sells you a car must now measure. It convinces you of the correct weight for a medium-sized touring car, below which a maker CANNOT go without impoverishing his mechanical margins of safety, and above which he need not go if he has access to engineers sufficiently skilled and experienced to obtain lightness by the consistent observance of simplicity in construction.

You won't fully understand the actual motor car purchasing power of $1665.00 until you've seen this new model for yourself. Demonstrators are here-now.

The Approaching Primary Election

The political pot is not boiling nearly so furiously now Roses and pansies and violets-all as it was some weeks ago. This is true notwithstanding the fact that each week and each day brings us nearer to the gen- when into her garden steps Littleeral election and nearer to the "August primaries" which are now but a few weeks in the future.

Nominating petitions for the primary election which is to be held by both parties on the same day in August must be filed now within the next few weeks.

The matter of circulating petitions for party candidates to be voted for in the primary elections is one of the most disagreeable and burdensome features in connection with the general primary election plan for nominating party candidates.

The supporters of the present primary election plan, predicate their strongest claim for favor on the fact that the plan has eliminated the party bosses.

Well that's true, it has, and it has come near to eliminating every one else too. Good men who are willing to serve as public officials and good men who are willing to serve as party candidates on minority party tickets are loath to travel around, She walketh the tendered way in my over the country asking their neighbors and friends to sign petitions for them.

Men with business affairs pressing are asked by candidates for office from early in April until the "entries" close in June to sign petitions. Men who are willing to make a sacrifice and accept a party nomination are asked to "tote" around a petition for signatures. The voters have so many petitions to sign so many candidates for office to nominate by petition that they forget for whom they have signed and who it is they have pledged themselves to support and are ready to sign, by the latter part of May, any old petition that is presented or to fly from any one, friend or foe, who looks like he had a petition concealed in his pockets or gives signs of presenting one for signature, according to the way the pestiferous practice affects

There is another objection to that feature of the law requiring that nominating petitions be circulated, an objection which reaches to the root of the whole primary election system and that is that, in this day of independent voting, men dislike to declare themselves in advance of the election as to their choice of candidates or even as to their preference of political

The one great change in public sentiment which the framers of the primary election law failed to take cognizance of, is the refusal of the voters to follow blindly any political party.

The independent voter refuses longer to be whipped into line by the crack of the party whip and he retains his political independence up to the very instant of marking his ballot in the booth at the election precinct on election day.

The primary law failed to provide a means by which the independent voter might express his choice for candidates and still retain his freedom from pledge. Perhaps it is impossible to incorporate such a provision in the present plan, and if so the plan must be changed to meet changed conditions.

The independent voter has forced recognition for himself in the general elections and he does not propose now to sign it away on some one's petition or estop himself by voting in a party primary to exercising it with all its attendant benefits to himself and to the public when election day rolls around.

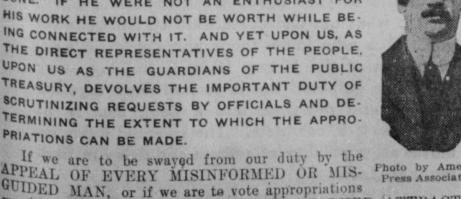

Any legislation which tends to trap him into doing so is wrong.

PUT THEM TO WORK

Columbus is seeking some plan whereby the prisoners sentenced to the workhouse or jail can be put to work upon the streets and the public given a slight return at least for the cost of maintaining the elaborate machinery for the prevention and punishment of crime. It seems that each. Springfield could use the labor of power to light 12,000 electric lamps prisoners with profit upon the city streets and that mutual advantages would come from such an arrange-

Under the present arrangement, the city is forced to pay several hundred dollars yearly to the Xenia work house for the privilege of sending its prisoners there to work out their fines. The public at large does not receive any benefit from the money expended in this manner, and the effect of indoor work upon the prisoners is bad. The system is one which calls for reform and the plan of working the prisoners upon the streets is a good one.

For every day's labor put in upon the streets the citizens would get some return for the money spent in enforcing the laws. It would not be necessary to manacle the prisoners or even to have an armed guard stationed over them. Experiments have proved the worth of the honor squad at the Ohio penitentiary, and where petty offenders are concerned the temptation to escape would not be as great. The offender could be given the choice of working out of doors or in the confines of the workhouse, and it would be possible to credit him upon his fine at the actual market price of labor. The difference between 60 cents a day and $2.00 a day would be sufficient to tempt the majority of offenders and to keep them industrious and obedient. Those who ran away, upon recapture could be sent to the workhouse and refused an opportunity to said that the pears were gone and lighten their punishment by out of the late apples and other blooms

Toward the conclusion of his article he says that America is the land of greatest possibilities. Following is an extract:

"America is the land of greatest possibilities. The mixture of foreign blood with native stock, the productive soil and climatic influences, are producing the greatest voices in the world. Expression of our talent is greatest through Yankee practicality, and elimination of that myth called the 'artistic temperament,' which is replaced, instead, by art governed by common sense.

Do you know what they are all making? Did you know that Ohio leads the country in the manufacture of carriages and wagons, of pottery and clay products, and a few other things? That it is second in automobiles?

What do you know about your state, in the lines of practical knowledge that every resident ought to know? It is impossible to remember much of the data that you read, of course, and you need your memory for things of immediate use in the task of earning your daily bread. Knowing where to find information and other matters, and having the means at your hand, is the important thing. That is what our OHIO ALMANAC has done for you. Men who know thoroughly the various departments of the history Ohio is making every day, have gathered the important facts together for you and put them into a book that is as concise as it is complete. The splendid index removes all possibility of tedium and delay in finding these facts.

The plaintiff, who is a sister-inlaw of the first named defendant, alleges that prior to 1898 she had on deposit with the Peoples Savings & Loan Company the sum on about $1,310, with accrued interest, and that this was invested in certain real estate to which defendants claim title. A number of changes in the investment have been made during the many years since the first transaction, and the plaintiff asks that the title to the real estate owned by her sister at death be transferred to her, and that an accounting for rents and use of real estate be made by the defendant.

Seek Settlement of Panama Canal Tolls Controversy.

REQUIRES TWO-THIRDS VOTE MINE

Senator O'Gorman, Leader of Forces Fighting Repeal of Exemption Act, Opposed to the Proposition to Submit the Dispute to an International Tribunal, but Many Senators Are Willing to Accept This Course.

Washington, May 19.-With the canal tolls exemption controversy nearing a vote, sentiment in the senate is growing in favor of an effort to substitute for the pending bill a resolution which would provide for the submission of "fre" Hispute between to an international tribunal.

Although senators who have discussed this proposid are by no means sure that it will prevail when the time for a vote arrives, they say that many of their colleagues are willing to accept this course. It was said forces fighting repeal, will not consent to arbitration, and the proposal undoubtedly will meet with vigorous opposition among senators on both sides of the issue.

It was pointed out, however, that before the house passed the repeal that the question should be settled by arbitration. During the day three senators, two Republicans and one Democrat, added their voices to those who see in arbitration the best way out of the difficulty.

Senator Sutherland made a vigorous speech on the exemption repeal one way to settle the dispute. Senabeen introduced by Senator Norris payable on the run-of-mine basis. and may come up for consideration before a vote on the repeal itself it demanded.

On the Republican side it developed that Senators Lodge and Root. as well as others who are prominent in the fight for repeal, would favor arbitration. A two-thirds vote of the arbitration resolution.

Details, as just furnished by Diarise, no matter what the decision of rector General Barrett of the Pan American Union, can now be given to substantiate this statement. For example, the entire foreign trade of Mexico, both exports and imports amounted in 1912-1913 to $248,088. 977 (Note that all figures are given in the United States gold dollar), while in the corresponding period of the previous year, it amounted to $240,325,719. If the exports are considered separately it will be found that there is an encouraging increase in that movement, the total quantity exported being $150,202,808, against $148,994,564, and that even comparly declared by the district executive ed with 1910-1911 a gain was shown In imports for 1912-1913 Mexico used$97,886,169, and this too was above the amount in the previous year, although the banner year,

ACCEPTS HANNA'S CHALLENGE

Attacks President Wilson's Mexican and Canal Tolls Policy and Holds New Tariff Act Responsible For Business Depression - Essence of Former Senator's Letter to Cincinnati Republican League.

Cincinnati, O., May 19.-Former Senator Joseph Benson Foraker, in a formal letter to Morris Posthorn of the Cincinnati Republican league, formally announced himself a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator from Ohio.

In his statement Mr. Foraker attacked President Wilson's Mexican and canal tolls policy and declared that the Democratic tariff law is responsible for throwing thousands of men out of employment and causing a depression in business. He also answered attacks which had been made on him by Dan R. Hanna, owner of two newspapers in Cleveland, saying he regarded the attacks as a challenge to battle, which it was his duty to accept. He denounced the attacks as untruthful and brutal.

Senator Foraker says: "I take the liberty of stating that I am a firm believer in the policy of protection to American industries and after the district attorney had placed American labor-not high protection before the jury what he considers nor low protection-but enough protection to make it safe to invest the capital necessary to revive our lan- proved the crime and tried to proguishing industries and call back to tect the murderers. Concentrated Light Beams.

Little lamps that would hardly give enough light for a small room are now being used for lighthouse purposes, throwing beams many miles. One little lamp rated at only thirty candle power and operated by a battery has a record of being seen clearly at a distance of more than twenty miles. The secret is the concentration of light. Every effort was made to keep the light source down to as fine a point as possible and then to keep it all concentrated in one narrow beam. This particular light revolves, and as it comes round the fine pencil of beams will catch a person's eye miles away.-

THE IDEAL JURYMAN.

His Age and Qualifications From an English Point of View.

There is a general agreement in Lon-Chicago 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 1 4 0 don legal circles that the best jurymen Philadelphia ... 2 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 *-3 5 2 are to be found among men sixty years of age. The opinion is that jurymen at that age show better judgment than vounger men.

> A leading London barrister, asked for his opinion, said: "I prefer men about ! fifty years of age. A defending barrister in, say, a criminal case which has certain sentimental elements will always welcome a young jury. He knows he can touch their emotions far more easily than he can those of men over fifty. Sentiment is very rare at fifty. and a man is cold and purely logical. The average man who has reached the age of fifty looks upon things from a materialistic point of view, and his judgment is therefore unaffected by sentiment.

> "Education, save in certain civil cases, is no great asset to a juryman. The bricklayer or the mechanic has just as much knowledge of human nature and a sense of justice as the professor, and in many respects barristers and judges prefer the unlettered juryman to the man of culture, though, in the case of the latter he is less susceptible to an emotional plea. The man with sound common sense, learned not from books, but from everyday life, is not so easily led either by judge or counsel as many suppose, and if you add the wisdom of years you get the ideal juryman."-Exchange.

FORCED THEM TO FIGHT.

How "Honor" Was Satisfied by a Compulsory Duel In Hungary.

The code duello as insisted upon abroad is strikingly illustrated by the story of a happening at Budapest, Hungary. It appears that a lawyer, Babocsay by name, quarreled with his wife over a new hat. The wife called her brother, Lieutenant Hajdu, a military aviator, to her aid. The husband used words deemed insulting by Hajdu.

This coming to the hearing of Hajdu's superior officer, the latter ordered the lieutenant to fight a duel with Babocsay. Neither party wished to fight. Babocsay offered to apologize, and Hajdu was willing to accept the apology and thus end the affair.

But the military martinet was inexorable. The duel must be fought to satisfy the honor of the army. Conse quently these two men, closely related. were compelled to attempt to try to take each other's life. They met, Babocsay, firing aimlessly, nevertheless sent a bullet through the lung of his adversary, and Lieutenant Hajdu died of his wound.

Upon hearing of the death of her brother at the hand of her husband in her quarrel Mme. Babocsay went insane, twice attempted suicide and was finally confined to an asylum.-Chicago Inter Ocean.

The Approaching Primary Election

The political pot is not boiling nearly so furiously now Roses and pansies and violets-all as it was some weeks ago. This is true notwithstanding the fact that each week and each day brings us nearer to the general election and nearer to the "August primaries" which are now but a few weeks in the future.

Nominating petitions for the primary election which is to be held by both parties on the same day in August must be filed now within the next few weeks.

The matter of circulating petitions for party candidates to be voted for in the primary elections is one of the most disagreeable and burdensome features in connection with the general primary election plan for nominating party candidates.

The supporters of the present primary election plan, predicate their strongest claim for favor on the fact that the plan has eliminated the party bosses.

Well that's true, it has, and it has come near to eliminat- But what careth my little precious, ing every one else too. Good men who are willing to serve as public officials and good men who are willing to serve as party candidates on minority party tickets are loath to travel around over the country asking their neighbors and friends to sign petitions for them.

Men with business affairs pressing are asked by candidates for office from early in April until the "entries" close in June to sign petitions. Men who are willing to make a sacrifice and accept a party nomination are asked to "tote" around a petition for signatures. The voters have so many petitions to sign so many candidates for office to nominate by petition that they forget for whom they have signed and who it is they have pledged themselves to support and are ready to sign, by the latter part of May, any old petition that is presented or to fly from any one, friend or foe, who looks like he had a petition concealed in his pockets or gives signs of presenting one for signature, according to the way the pestiferous practice affects

There is another objection to that feature of the law re- Generally fair Tuesday and Wednes- profit by the example of the capital quiring that nominating petitions be circulated, an objection which reaches to the root of the whole primary election system and that is that, in this day of independent voting, men dislike to declare themselves in advance of the election as to their choice of candidates or even as to their preference of political parties.

The one great change in public sentiment which the framers of the primary election law failed to take cognizance of, is the refusal of the voters to follow blindly any political party.

The independent voter refuses longer to be whipped into line by the crack of the party whip and he retains his political independence up to the very instant of marking his ballot in the booth at the election precinct on election day.

The primary law failed to provide a means by which the independent voter might express his choice for candidates and still retain his freedom from pledge. Perhaps it is impossible to incorporate such a provision in the present plan, and if so the plan must be changed to meet changed conditions. The independent voter has forced recognition for himself in the general elections and he does not propose now to sign it away on some one's petition or estop himself by voting in a party primary to exercising it with all its attendant benefits to himself and to the public when election day rolls around.

Any legislation which tends to trap him into doing so is wrong.

PUT THEM TO WORK.

Columbus is seeking some plan whereby the prisoners sentenced to the workhouse or jail can be put to work upon the streets and the public given a slight return at least for the cost of maintaining the elaborate machinery for the prevention and punishment of crime. It seems that Springfield could use the labor of prisoners with profit upon the city streets and that mutual advantages would come from such an arrange-

Under the present arrangement the city is forced to pay several hundred dollars yearly to the Xenia work house for the privilege of sending its prisoners there to work out their fines. The public at large does not receive any benefit from the money expended in this manner, and the effect of indoor work upon the prisoners is bad. The system is one which calls for reform and the plan of working the prisoners upon the streets is a good one.

For every day's labor put in upon silver-bird singeth as only can the streets the citizens would get some return for the money spent in enforcing the laws. It would not be necessary to manacle the prisoners or even to have an armed guard stationed over them. The R. C. Kyle Manufacturing Company is now producing a galvanized steel and wire screen fly trap which is proving a rapid seller, and is a decided improvement over the old make of fly trap. The Board of Health of this city has ordered some three dozen of the new traps to place on the streets in the main part of the city to eliminate the fly nuisance. The Kyle traps are square, with sliding lid on top which permits of rapid removal of the insects. The all steel feature makes it possible to quickly kill all of the insects by the application of a torch.

By placing fly traps on the sidewalks in previous years, the fly pest has been so greatly reduced in the city that the name of "flyless town" has been applied to Washington.

New York is the most wonderful city in the western hemisphere. It has the tallest office buildings in the world; it has the greatest bridges on the North American continent; it has more hotels than any other city in the world; its Stock Exchange is the greatest in existence; it is the world's greatest seaport; it has the most magnificent railway stations in America; it is the greatest banking center in the country; more popular songs are published in New York than in all other cities combined: it has more Pittsburgh millionaires than Pittsburgh; it has a larger Irish population than Dublin, a larger Jewish population than Jerusalem had in its most glorious days, and, according to estimates made by some of our most able estimators, it has a larger number of native New Yorkers than Cohoes .-Chicago Record-Herald.

It is exceedingly painful to touch a boil even when it is large enough to open. A correspondent of the New York World writes that the best way to do this is to paint a ring of collodion, which can be purchased in any drug store, around it, being careful not to put any directly over the boil. As the alcohol evaporates the collodion in drying will exert a gentle but firm pressure all around the boil. not only opening it, but forcing out its contents, which should be absorbed by a perfectly clean handkerchief or piece of sterilized cotton. ****

Over Fifteen Thousand Factories in Ohio

Do you know what they are all making? Did you know that Ohio leads the country in the manufacture of carriages and wagons, of pottery and clay products, and a few other things? That it is second in automobiles?

What do you know about your state, in the lines of practical knowledge that every resident ought to know? It is impossible to remember much of the data that you read, of course, and you need your memory for things of immediate use in the task of earning your daily bread. Knowing where to find information and other matters, and having the means at your hand, is the important thing. That is what our OHIO ALMANAC has done for you. Men who know thoroughly the various departments of the history Ohio is making every day, have gathered the important facts together for you and put them into a book that is as concise as it is complete. The splendid index removes all possibility of tedium and delay in finding these facts.

And we offer this Handbook to you for 25c at our office, or by mail at 30c, postpaid.

A suit somewhat out of the ordinary for complexity has been filed in liam Rickey, A. Seltzer, A. Sherry, Casthe Common Pleas court by Arvilla per Sober, Andrew M. Wines and Gus-Brown Bates, against Thomas P. Sites and others, in which title to certain real estate is asked and a settlement covering a period of many years is prayed for. Attorney Humphrey Jones represents the plaintiff.

The plaintiff, who is a sister-inlaw of the first named defendant, alleges that prior to 1898 she had on deposit with the Peoples Savings & Loan Company the sum on about $1,310, with accrued interest, and Benjamin Mule. Sol Tiger, A. Wolf, that this was invested in certain real Fred Bee. Axel Moth, A. Roach, Joestate to which defendants claim title. A number of changes in the investment have been made during the many years since the first transaction, and the plaintiff asks that the title to the real estate owned by her sister at death be transferred to her, and that an accounting for rents and use of real estate be made by the defendant.

It is interesting to note, as proof of the vitality of the Republic of Mexico, that in spite of the disturbance in normal conditions the foreign commerce of the country has been to no appreciable extent affected, and that in fact from the figures of Mexico's fiscal year ending June 0, 1913 (for the year 1912-1913) its foreign commerce was the largest

Details, as just furnished by Diarise, no matter what the decision of rector General Barrett of the Pan American Union, can now be given to substantiate this statement. For example, the entire foreign trade of Mexico, both exports and imports amounted in 1912-1913 to $248,088, 977 (Note that all figures are given in the United States gold dollar), while in the corresponding period of the previous year, it amounted to $240,325,719. If the exports are considered separately it will be found that there is an encouraging increase in that movement, the total quantity exported being $150,202,808 against $148,994,564, and that even compared with 1910-1911 a gain was shown In imports for 1912-1913 Mexico used$97,886,169, and this too was above the amount in the previous year, although the banner year, Declaration of the strike was ac. 1910-1911, was higher by a very Formally Announces Candidacy For Republican Nomination.

ACCEPTS HANNA'S CHALLENGE

Attacks President Wilson's Mexican and Canal Tolls Policy and Holds New Tariff Act Responsible For Business Depression - Essence of Former Senator's Letter to Cincinnati Republican League.

Cincinnati, O., May 19 .- Former Senator Joseph Benson Foraker, in a formal letter to Morris Posthorn of the Cincinnati Republican league, formally announced himself a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator from Ohio.

In his statement Mr. Foraker attacked President Wilson's Mexican and canal tolls policy and declared that the Democratic tariff law is responsible for throwing thousands of men out of employment and causing a depression in business. He also answered attacks which had been made on him by Dan R. Hanna, owner of two newspapers in Cleveland, saying he regarded the attacks as a challenge to battle, which it was his duty to accept. He denounced the attacks as untruthful and brutal.

Senator Foraker says:

"I take the liberty of stating that I guishing industries and call back to wages the hundreds of thousands of who sings and dances without fault on their part, are the that Becker was talking with Jack suffering victims of the present low Rose and two other men at about 10 from street railway lines to tele-

THE IDEAL JURYMAN.

His Age and Qualifications From an English Point of View.

There is a general agreement in London legal circles that the best jurymen . 20001000 *-3 5 2 are to be found among men sixty years of age. The opinion is that jurymen at that age show better judgment than younger men.

A leading London barrister, asked for his opinion, said: "I prefer men about ! fifty years of age. A defending barrister in, say, a criminal case which has certain sentimental elements will always welcome a young jury. He knows he can touch their emotions far more easily than he can those of men over fifty. Sentiment is very rare at fifty. and a man is cold and purely logical. The average man who has reached the age of fifty looks upon things from a materialistic point of view, and his judgment is therefore unaffected by sentiment.

"Education, save in certain civil cases, is no great asset to a juryman. and Meyers and McLean; Douglas, Ying- The bricklayer or the mechanic has just as much knowledge of human nature and a sense of justice as the professor, and in many respects barristers and judges prefer the unlettered juryman to the man of culture, though, in the case of the latter he is less susceptible to an emotional plea. The man with sound common sense, learned not from books, but from everyday life, is not so easily led either by judge or counsel as many suppose, and if you add the wisdom of years you get the ideal juryman."-Exchange.

FORCED THEM TO FIGHT.

How "Honor" Was Satisfied by a Compulsory Duel In Hungary.

The code duello as insisted upon abroad is strikingly illustrated by the story of a happening at Budapest, Hungary. It appears that a lawyer, Babocsay by name, quarreled with his wife over a new hat. The wife called her brother. Lieutenant Hajdu, a military aviator, to her ald. The husband used words deemed insulting by Hajdu.

This coming to the hearing of Hajdu's superior officer, the latter ordered the lieutenant to fight a duel with Babocsay. Neither party wished to fight. Hajdu was willing to accept the apol-
